- 1.6. The Merchant commits to continuously ensuring the connection of the Website with the TrustPay Gateway for the duration of this Agreement and, unless agreed otherwise, to ensure the redirection of specific payers to the TrustPay Gateway after the payer selects the option to pay through the TrustPay Gateway. The Merchant is fully responsible for the operation of the Website.
- 1.7. If a certain function or service proves to be functional in test operation, TrustPay does not guarantee its subsequent functionality in live operation.
- 1.9. During the operation of the Payment Acceptance service, TrustPay is entitled to establish Merchant access to information systems belonging to TrustPay or third parties. Any access to such systems is established based on a request from the Client Representative in a manner determined by TrustPay. Access to TrustPay technology is governed by the provisions of these GTC concerning Signatories. Data stated in information systems belonging to TrustPay are considered binding unless proven otherwise.

- 1.10. The Merchant is obliged to ensure that no damage occurs due to their incorrect use of the Payment Acceptance service; in particular, they must protect TrustPay technology from deletion, damage during data transmission, as well as from its misuse, and maintain it in an operational state, in which it was integrated on the Website. The Merchant commits not to allow any unauthorized person any access or manipulation of the service.

2. Technical downtimes and outages

- 2.1. TrustPay commits to operating the TrustPay Gateway and ensuring its functionality during the term of the Agreement, however, it cannot guarantee that the operation of the TrustPay Gateway and other TrustPay technologies will be without outages or scheduled downtimes, and the Merchant is not entitled to compensation in the event of outages or downtimes.

TrustPay does not guarantee and cannot ensure the functionality of the TrustPay Gateway in case of faults, malfunctioning, or modifications within these third-party systems or loss of access to them. TrustPay is not liable in case the Merchant incurs damage as a result of the malfunctioning of these third-party systems.
- 2.3. In the event of suspicion of any error in TrustPay Technologies or other TrustPay systems, the Client commits to report this fact to TrustPay.

- 3.2. The Merchant may request the activation of individual Payment Methods through the Merchant Portal or another method specified by TrustPay. The activation of each Payment Method is subject to approval by TrustPay and the conclusion of an Agreement, an addendum to the Agreement, or approval of conditions by the Merchant in the Merchant Portal. TrustPay reserves the right to refuse the activation of a specific Payment Method.
- 3.3. TrustPay reserves the right to deactivate individual types of Payment Methods without terminating the contractual relationship. TrustPay is obliged to promptly inform the Merchant of the deactivation of a Payment Method. The Merchant's right to terminate the Agreement remains unaffected.

4. Merchant Obligations when using the Payment Acceptance service

- 4.1. - 4.4. The Merchant commits to place on the Website clear identification of the Merchant, a complete description of the offered goods or services, price (including the billing currency), the method of return or claim of goods or services, contact information for the Merchant, the method of delivery of goods or provision of services, the seat of the Merchant and the country in which the Merchant is registered, information on the protection and warranty of the security of personal data of its clients (Payers).
- 4.5. The Merchant also commits to deliver to the payer a document (confirmation) of payment for the purchased goods or services.
- 4.6. The Merchant is solely responsible for the operation of the Website and its content. TrustPay is not responsible or liable for any terms of the commercial relationship between the Client and the payer (e.g., terms of delivery of goods/service, quantity, type, quality of goods, warranty, possibly other conditions of the commercial relationship between the Client and its payer), which are the exclusive responsibility of the Client and the respective Payer. In the event of a complaint of any Payment for reasons arising from the commercial legal relationship between the Client and the respective payer, TrustPay's right to Fees according to the Fee Schedule is preserved.
- 4.7. The Merchant is authorised to use the services in accordance with the Agreement for the purpose agreed therein and in connection with the Website approved by TrustPay. If the Merchant wishes to use the services on another own website and/or plans to change the type of goods/services offered on its Website, it is required to obtain prior written consent from TrustPay. The Client also must not lease or otherwise transfer the Payment Acceptance service for use to a third party.
- 4.8. The Client is liable for damage caused to TrustPay by fraudulent actions, incorrect use or misuse of the Payment Acceptance service, including damages caused by persons to whom it allowed or did not prevent access to the service.

5. Authorising transactions

- 5.1. Transactions are authorised through TrustPay Technology after entering the required data according to TrustPay's requirements, in accordance with the Card Associations Rules and Payment Method Operator Rules.
- 5.2. Authorising transactions does not result in a change in the balance of the Merchant Account.
- 5.3. The Merchant verifies the status of transactions through the Merchant Portal. The Merchant should not deliver or provide the Payer with goods or services until TrustPay marks the transaction as successful in the Merchant Portal.

6. Provision of information on payments and the balance of the Merchant Account

- 6.1. The Client has access to information about movements and the current balance on its Merchant Account in the Merchant Portal.
- 6.2. TrustPay provides statements and reports from the Merchant Account in electronic form. TrustPay provides statements from the Merchant Account in paper form only upon the Client's request. TrustPay is entitled to fees according to the current Fee Schedule.
- 6.3. Receiving a payment through the TrustPay Gateway and Merchant Portal interface consists of the following consecutive steps:
 - a) Authorisation of the payment, which in itself does not affect the accounting balance of the Merchant Account, in case the Payment Method supports separate authorisation.
 - b) Processing of the payment, where the change in the accounting balance on the Client's Merchant Account is displayed in the Merchant Portal.
 - c) Merchant Settlement, when TrustPay releases the processed payment, credited to the Merchant Account, for the purpose of Merchant Payout.
 - d) Merchant Payout, when the value of received payments is paid out in accordance with the agreed conditions to the Approved Account.
- 6.4. The value of authorised and processed payments through various Payment Methods is displayed in the Merchant Portal immediately after their successful execution, even before Merchant Settlement.
- 6.5. The Merchant has access to information about their transactions through selected systems belonging to TrustPay Technology (e.g., Merchant Portal), to which TrustPay provides access. All information listed in the TrustPay Technology systems is considered accurate and confirmed by the Merchant, unless the Merchant objects in writing. Such a written objection must be delivered to TrustPay within 30 calendar days from the date of information publication and must contain the specific disputed item.

7. Merchant Settlement

- 7.1. TrustPay reserves the right to set a different number of delay days for Merchant Settlement for each Payment Method. The number of delay days for each Payment Method, as per the previous sentence, is governed by the Agreement and the specific terms of individual Payment Methods stated in these GTC.

8. Merchant Payout

- 8.1. Payments received into the Client's Merchant Account are eligible for Merchant Settlement only after they have been settled by the Payment Method Operator and after the Merchant Settlement has been performed.
- 8.2. After deducting Fees, amounts of received Chargebacks, Refunds, and other legitimate claims, TrustPay will send the value of payments received through the TrustPay Gateway, for which there has been Merchant Settlement. Unless otherwise agreed in the Agreement or through the Merchant Portal, TrustPay will perform the Merchant Payout once a week. The Merchant Payout includes only those transactions that have been settled with the Client. The Merchant Settlement can only be made to an Approved Account.

- 8.3. The Client is entitled to adjust the conditions of the Merchant Payout through the Merchant Portal, for example, to delay or suspend the Merchant Payout, to increase the minimum value of the Merchant Payout, or to change the Approved Account. TrustPay reserves the right to refuse to perform the requested change in justified cases.
- 8.4. TrustPay is entitled to delay the Merchant Payout, in part or in full, for up to 180 calendar days if reasons for immediate termination of the contractual relationship by TrustPay according to these GTC occur, or longer if TrustPay assesses that the relevant transactions are likely to be subject to a Chargeback, unless otherwise agreed in the Agreement. This provision applies if any reversible Payment Method was used (i.e., a Payment Method whose transactions may be subject to a Chargeback).

9. Recurring Transactions

- 9.1. Some Payment Methods provided by TrustPay allow for Recurring Transactions. If a Payment Method allows for Recurring Transactions, this is stated in the specific terms for that Payment Method.
- 9.2. In case that the Merchant initiates a Recurring Transaction, prior consent for such Transaction must be obtained. This consent must be in written form, and the Merchant is obliged to retain this consent and provide it upon request by TrustPay. The Merchant is required to inform the Payer about the conditions of Recurring Transactions and the method for withdrawing consent for further Recurring Transactions.
- 9.3. The Merchant should not deliver goods or provide services and process further Recurring Transactions if the Merchant receives a revocation of consent from the payer for further such Transactions.
- 9.4. The Merchant is obliged to inform the payer, in an appropriate manner, at least 14 calendar days before the due date of the Recurring Transaction, unless a shorter period is agreed upon between the Merchant and the payer, about the amount, sum, and due date of the Recurring Transaction.

10. Conditional credit of transactions

- 10.1. Any credit of transactions to the Merchant's Merchant Account is provisional only, and TrustPay may cancel it until the Transaction is final and not subject to a claim or Chargeback by the Payment Method Operator.
- 10.2. TrustPay is entitled to return the Transaction without prior notice to the Client, in case:
- a) Any statement or warranty provided by the Merchant in connection with the transaction, whether to the payer or TrustPay, is false or inaccurate;
 - b) The transaction is in violation of the Card Associations Rules or the Payment Method Operator Rules;
 - c) TrustPay has received a complaint from the payer or on his behalf, the content of which is an unresolved dispute between the payer and the Merchant or an objection to the transaction by the payer regardless of its justification;
 - d) The Merchant fails to submit the Transaction Documentation upon request by TrustPay.

11. Chargeback

- 11.1. The Merchant commits to actively resolving all complaints from Payers, TrustPay, Payment Method Operators, or Card Associations.
- 11.2. Some Payment Methods provided by TrustPay as part of the Payment Acceptance service are reversible, and a Chargeback may occur. Whether a Chargeback can occur within a Payment Method is specified in the special conditions for individual Payment Methods.
- 11.3. Regardless of the Payment Method, including those designated as non-reversible (irreversible) in the special conditions, TrustPay may perform a corrective settlement according to the general part of these GTC.
- 11.4. Upon receiving a Chargeback, TrustPay will immediately deduct the value of the Chargeback from the Merchant Account or Payment Account. TrustPay is entitled to charge a separate fee according to the current Fee Schedule or the Agreement.
- 11.5. If there are insufficient funds in the Merchant or Payment Account to cover the value of received Chargebacks, TrustPay is authorised to deduct them from any funds in the Client's Payment Account, Merchant Account, any claim of the Client against TrustPay, or to pursue them through legal action; in such case, the Client bears the costs associated with the legal enforcement.
- 11.6. The Merchant is entitled to dispute received Chargebacks if allowed by the Card Associations Rules or Payment Method Operator Rules. Whether a Chargeback within a Payment Method can be disputed is specified in the special conditions for individual Payment Methods.
- 11.6.1. In disputing a Chargeback, the Merchant is required to provide Transaction Documentation as well as any additional supporting documentation and evidence in the form and timeframe specified by TrustPay. The Merchant acknowledges and agrees that such dispute is adjudicated and decided by the Card Association in accordance with the Card Associations Rules, or by the Payment Method Operator in accordance with the Payment Method Operator Rules. TrustPay does not guarantee a decision in favour of the Merchant. If the Chargeback is decided in favour of the Merchant, TrustPay will return the corresponding funds to the Client.
- 11.6.2. TrustPay is authorised to reject the Merchant's request to dispute a Chargeback if it believes that such dispute is unjustified based on the Agreement, these GTC, generally binding legal regulations, or the Card Associations Rules or Payment Method Operator Rules.
- 11.7. To prevent Chargebacks, TrustPay recommends that the Merchant always performs refunds as Refund and not to return funds to the payer in any other way.
- 11.8. The Merchant has the option to obtain information on received Chargebacks in one of the following ways:
- a) Information about the Chargeback is available via the relevant TrustPay Technology, especially the Merchant Portal, where the Merchant has been granted access and the ability to manage them; or
